Neo-Nazis plan takeover of Catholic group

A coup within Catholicism is imminent. The target is The Society of Pius X (SSPX), an ultra-traditionalist group founded in 1970 out of opposition to the Second Vatican Council (1962-65). The plotters intend to make a major step towards their takeover at a conference on the weekend of 1 and 2 June, which we can reveal will be held at Earlsfield Library Hall, 276 Magdalen Road, Earlsfield London SW18 from 9am to 5pm.

The key players in this plot are a bunch of neo-Nazis, fascists and others with disreputable backgrounds. Their objective is to replace SSPX's current Superior General, Bishop Bernard Fellay, with the convicted Holocaust-denier Bishop Richard Williamson. This plot is a very worrying turn of events. The identity of those implementing it will gravely concern faithful Catholics. Responsible journalists should expose it for two reasons.

First, is the presence of far-right extremists associated with Williamson in the plot. The organiser of the meeting where the plotters intend to implement their coup is Gregory J Taylor, teacher of Latin at London Oratory School, the school Tony Blair and Nick Clegg chose to educate their respective sons.

The man responsible for many of the attacks on the current leadership of SSPX is Derek Holland. Holland is associated with the Italian neo-fascist Roberto Fiore and BNP leader Nick Griffin via St George's Educational Trust. He belonged to the National Front's Political Soldier wing alongside Griffin. Holland and Griffin travelled to Libya to seek funding for the National Front from Colonel Gaddafi in 1988.

Michael Fishwick, who manages Williamson's websites, was listed on the leaked British National Party membership list (no 19934). Fishwick also manages Williamson's band of loyal political activists and co-founded The Recusant, a magazine created specifically to attack the leadership of SSPX in the UK. His fellow founder of The Recusant is another BNP member, Alun Rowland (no 2084).

Also among Williamson's supporters are Jeremy 'Jez' Bedford-Turner and Paul Ballard. Bedford-Turner is an erstwhile National Front member. He now runs the neo-Nazi group IONA London Forum. Williamson headlined IONA's February meeting at the Russell Hotel in London. Ballard is a National Front activist who runs the leading supplier of Holocaust denial material in Britain, the Historical Review Press.

The second reason for exposing this plot is Williamson himself. Williamson converted to Catholicism in 1970, and joined SSPX in 1972. In 1988, Pope John Paul II excommunicated

Williamson when Archbishop Lefebvre ordained him bishop. To widespread outrage, Pope Benedict XVI lifted Williamson's excommunication in January 2009.

Beforehand, Williamson had openly denied the Holocaust and supported other Holocaust-deniers, spread the Jewish world domination conspiracy theory, and described the known forgery The Protocols of the Elders of Zion as authentic. The Vatican claimed ignorance of Williamson's activities before re-admitting him to the Church. The German authorities did not ignore them, convicting Williamson of Holocaust denial and incitement to racial hatred in 2010. Although that conviction was overturned due to a technicality, Williamson was again convicted in 2013. By this time, Williamson was no longer a member of SSPX; its patience running out, they expelled him in October 2012. Williamson is clearly an antisemite.

SSPX is no stranger to controversy. Its members have supported the French Front National and given sanctuary to a Nazi collaborator and war criminal. A previous District Superior, Fr Boyle, removed Nazi sympathisers from the Society, but our sources inform us that they have re-infiltrated it under the current District Superior Fr Morgan. Since then, any expression of concern by SSPX members has met with ostracism and denunciation. In other words, Williamson's objective is receiving support from some SSPX members.

This has left many decent members shocked and fearful for its future. They do not want to see it fall into the hands of neo-Nazis, and certainly not into the hands of a man whose views one concerned SSPX member described as 'music to the ears of those who feel alienated by mainstream society'.

So why is Williamson trying to take control of SSPX? Lefebvre's ordination of Williamson and three other bishops ruptured SSPX's relationship with the Holy See. However, dialogue has resumed since SSPX's pilgrimage to Rome in 2000 to celebrate the Catholic Church's 'Great Jubilee'. This paved the way for Benedict XVI's remittance of the excommunications from which Williamson benefited. Since then, the Society and the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has conducted discussions with SSPX's representatives, which resulted in terms being offered to Superior General Bishop Fellay that would result in the restoration of the Society's canonical status.

If Williamson succeeds, any rapprochement would obviously end. That would upset many Catholics who wish to see an end to this schism. For many within SSPX, however, one concern is that the organisation will become associated with Williamson's connections. In addition to those already identified, Williamson's connections include fellow convicted Holocaust denier David Irving. Williamson has met other antisemites at Irving's home.

Williamson's coup, if successful, would provide him and his associates a respectable platform for their odious views. Sadly, the consequences of this are becoming all too clear. One person connected with Williamson and Fr Morgan was Timothy McVeigh, who in 1995 killed 168 people at Oklahoma City. Anders Breivik, who murdered 77 innocent civilians in 2011, espoused views similar to Williamson. Yesterday's horrific crime in Woolwich, and the fallout from it, is a diabolical reminder of the consequences of views based on superiority, fear and hatred, and we should ignore any opportunity to counter them.
